

Lois grew up in Staten Island, New York in a fairly large family, with two sisters and three brothers, but has lived in Walpole for 30 years. She has been a member of Emmanuel Lutheran Church in Norwood since moving here 30 years ago. Lois is married to a recently retired teacher, and has two grown children: a son who lives in Hawaii and a daughter who lives at home while pursuing a graduate degree in counseling psychology.

Lois is a graduate of Houghton College, in upstate New York, where she majored in business administration. She has worked in various jobs, beginning as an auditor of Chase Manhattan Bank and most recently as the business manager of Walpole Public Schools. After "retiring" in late May, 2008 from the school system, Lois was looking for a part-time job when the opportunity arose for her to become office manager at Union Congregational Church.

When not working, Lois enjoys reading, x-stitching, crocheting and knitting as well as biking and walking. She and her husband especially enjoy their time at their cottage at the Cape in North Eastham.
